

What if you could

BOOST YOUR INCOME

by as much as 50 per cent¹?

It might be possible!

File your taxes and find out.

Filing a tax return is the only way to apply for most benefits and credits that can add to your income or reduce the tax you pay.*

Living on a low income?

If you get social assistance or earn a low wage

You could get the GST/HST credit and receive between

$500 to $1400

annually depending on whether you're single, have a spouse or have children.

If you have children under the age of 18

You could be eligible for the Canada Child Benefit and receive between

$6600 to $7800

annually per child depending on your income and the age of your children.

If you are a senior over the age of 65

You could get the Guaranteed Income Supplement and receive between monthly when combined with the Old Age Security, depending on whether you're single or have a spouse.

$700 to $1900

If you work and live on a low income

You could get the Canada Workers Benefit and receive between annually depending on whether you're single, have a family, or are eligible for the Disability Tax Credit.

$1500 to $2600

If you or your child live with a disability

You could get the Disability Tax Credit and pay less tax and unlock other benefits like the Registered Disability Savings Plan, the Canada Workers Benefit disability supplement, the Child Disability Benefit and, beginning in July 2025, the new Canada Disability Benefit.

"I had no idea how it worked. I thought they would just take my money, but I got money back."

– First-time tax-filer in Thunder Bay, Ontario

Free tax clinics are offered in many communities across the country.

*Amounts shown are according to the Canada Revenue Agency as of November, 2024 and rounded to the nearest 100.